

April 17, 2008

In March 2006, I made the decision to relocate my company from San Diego to Denver. It was a decision that required much planning and reorganization. Part of this reorganization involved the need to rebuild a network of professionals in a city where I knew no one.

It was an impressive article in the Denver Business Journal that introduced me to Gordon, Hughes & Banks Accounting firm. The article highlighted the many diverse services that GHB provided and how established they were in Denver and the Rocky Mountain Region.

After my initial meeting with Lloyd Sweet, CPA/Partner, I felt that I was instantly plugged in to the network of professionals that took over 15 years to develop in San Diego.

Lloyd personally introduced me to many of his colleagues and offered incredible guidance and support that resulted in a smooth relocation for my company and family.

I'm highly impressed with Lloyd's expertise, creativity and resourcefulness. In a short time, Lloyd was able to learn the complexities of my company, personal estate and real estate holdings and then tie them all together to find the best accounting solutions and go forward structure. I'm inspired by Lloyd's energy and passion for what he does.

On a personal level, Lloyd is thoughtful, ethical, caring and genuine. I greatly admire him and have enjoyed the friendship that we have developed over the past 2 years. It is not often that you find an individual who possesses so much on a personal and professional level and I will continue to refer my valued friends and business contacts to him.

Lloyd has been very instrumental in paving the way for my companies' future growth and look forward to many years of continued success together.
